

THE UNIVERSITY

Andrews University is a Christian university in the Seventh-day Adventist tradition. Given this Christian tradition, Andrews University encourages its students to study, practice, and develop an active religious experience. By corporate worship, community service, and a common concern for all, Andrews University students are led to develop a philosophy that makes them Christian not just in name, but in deed.

and shoes; and a gift shop with greeting cards and stationery.

Andrews University Press
Information Services Building 471-6915

The Andrews University Press publishes academic books, journals, and papers that make a scholarly and/or professional contribution to their respective fields. Publication emphases include archaeology, biblical studies, religion, and education. The journals published under press auspices are Andrews University Seminary Studies and Journal of Research on Christian Education.

Career Planning and Placement Services

Campus Center, Room 120 471-3141

Career Planning and Placement Services provides a continuum of career counseling from pre-freshman through graduate and alumni years. Students may receive individual assistance in evaluating career goals, choosing majors and minors, obtaining co-op or internship experience, identifying possible employers, and planning job-search strategies.

Center of Continuing Education for Ministry

Seminary Hall, Main Floor 471-6371

The Center of Continuing Education for Ministry (CEEM) is an extension of the Seventh-day Adventist Theological Seminary. It serves the General Conference Ministerial Association, the North American Division, and other organizations of the Seventh-day Adventist Church. While its primary purpose is to provide continuing education for persons currently functioning in Adventist ministry, it also serves Adventist administrators, lay leaders, and, to a limited degree, ministers of other Christian bodies.

The center coordinates graduate courses for off-campus participants leading to such degrees as the Master of Arts in Pastoral Ministry and the Doctor of Ministry. It seeks to identify the needs and issues that affect the professional growth of Adventist ministers and develops continuing-education courses that result in certificates and continuing-education units. It serves church organizations as an accrediting, monitoring, and registering agency.

Center for Global Urban Mission

Sutherland House 471-6532

The Center for Global Urban Mission monitors urban trends globally; gathers and disseminates information on urban mission; develops and evaluates models for urban mission; assists with strategic planning, urban consultations, and training in urban mission; networks urban missionaries; and draws the attention of denominational leaders, pastors, and key lay leaders to the needs of urban centers around the world.

Center for Statistical Services

Bell Hall (Education), Room 151 471-3478

The Center for Statistical Services provides help with all aspects of empirical research. Services are available in (1) research design, (2) development of questionnaires and measurement instruments, (3) data entry, (4) statistical analysis, and (5) interpretation and reporting of results.

Center for Youth Evangelism

Lake Union Conference Office 471-9881

The Center for Youth Evangelism (CYE) is an organization of the Seventh-day Adventist Theological Seminary and the North American Division Youth Ministries Department. Created in response to the need for creative youth-ministry programming and resources throughout the North American Division (NAD), the center offers a variety of services to seminarians, pastors, churches, and conferences.

The CYE provides youth-ministry training through workshops, seminars, and training events. It also provides evaluation and production of youth-ministry materials, promotion of study and research in youth ministry, and a network for people committed to "sticking their necks out for youth and young adults" through the pages of Giraffe News, the center's quarterly journal. The CYE also serves as the home of the Giraffe Society, a pro-active youth-ministry organization, and Youth Summits, a creative discipleship program aimed at high-school-aged young people.

Information Technology Services

Information Services Building 471-3455

The Information Technology Services provides a number of services for faculty, students, and the university administration. This service makes hardware and software available to students and faculty at educational prices. Some assistance with software questions is provided as resources allow. Non-credit seminars in the use of software applications are offered free of charge.

Public-access labs containing PC-compatible computers are located in Bell Hall, Chan Shun Hall, and Nethery Hall. A variety of software as well as dot matrix and laser printers are available for use in these labs.

A campus-wide network connecting most university computers is accessible from faculty offices, computing labs, dormitory rooms, and other locations via modem. The campus network is connected to the world-wide collection of networks called the Internet. These networks allow individuals to communicate with each other through electronic mail, to access information from library online catalogs, to access and transfer files/information, and to use resources on various computer systems on campus and around the world.

Center for Intensive English Programs

Nethery Hall 471-2260

The CIEP offers classes in writing, grammar, reading, and oral/aural communication at various levels for those students whose mother tongue is not English and who do not meet English proficiency requirements for regular admittance to university classes. The CIEP, in conjunction with the Counseling and Testing Center, also coordinates a program for testing English language proficiency, using the MELAB test.

English as a Second Language—ACA

Nethery Hall 471-2260

The ACA program in English as a Second Language offers an immersion experience in American culture as well as in English. Language classes include all of the skill areas, as well as preparation for TOEFL. Out-of-class activities, such as sports events, dining out, shopping, trips to major cities, and everyday conversational training are an important part of the program. English-speaking peers accompany students on activities, and students are paired with English-speaking roommates.

Global Church Growth
Research Center

Sutherland House 471-2523

The Global Research Center (GRC) has been developed to create the only comprehensive electronic database of the Adventist church and global mission statistics in cooperation with the General Conference Office of Archives and Statistics. Its purpose is to support mission research and strategy development through accurate information, expert analysis, and informal training events for leaders in the field.

Greek Manuscript Research Center

James White Library 471-3313

The Theological Seminary Department of New Testament sponsors the Greek Manuscript Research Center (GMRC). The center's primary goal is to help develop a more complete understanding and appreciation of Christianity's primary documents—the original, handwritten Greek manuscripts of the New Testament, copied over a 1200-year period. The Theological Seminary is a participant in the International Greek New Testament Project, an ongoing venture of American and European scholars seeking to create an exhaustive multi-volume reference tool that documents every variant in all extant Greek manuscripts of the New Testament. The GMRC houses one of the largest collections of microfilmed Greek manuscripts in North America.

Horn Archaeological Museum

Seminary Drive 471-3273

An archaeological museum named for its founder and first curator, Siegfried H. Horn (1908-1993), houses over 8,500 ancient Near-Eastern artifacts including coins, pottery, sculptures, tools, weapons, figurines, jewelry, seals, and glass vessels. Nearly half of these objects came from university-sponsored archaeological excavations at Tel Gezer, Israel, and at Tall Hisban, Tall el-Umairy, and Tall Jalul, Jordan.

The museum building contains offices, work-rooms, the Siegfried Horn Archaeological Library, and the collection display area. Eleven oil-painted murals help visitors understand the cultures of Bible times. A special Writing Exhibit houses the Andrews University Cuneiform Texts (formerly the Hartford Cuneiform Tablet Collection). This collection consists of 3,000 ancient clay tablets dating from the Sumerian period to Neo-Babylonian times.

The museum sponsors a regular lecture series, occasional field trips, and a quarterly subscription newsletter.

Institute of Archaeology

Horn Archaeological Museum 471-3273

The Andrews University Institute of Archaeology coordinates the archaeological programs and activities of the university. The institute fosters archaeological research, publication, and education at Andrews University, the communities of Michiana, and the Seventh-day Adventist Church at large.

The institute (1) offers courses through the seminary which directly or significantly relate to the study of archaeology, (2) sponsors regular visits by distinguished archaeologists for the purpose of lecturing and consulting, (3) organizes tours which are open to the public, (4) presents archaeological programs for churches and schools, (5) provides opportunity for field and laboratory training through its excavations and surveys in the Middle East and Michiana and the subsequent analysis of these results, (6) supports the work of the Horn Archaeological Museum in collecting and interpreting artifacts, and (7) publishes results of excavations and research in annuals, monographs, and occasional papers.

Institute of Church Ministry

Seminary Hall, Lower Level 471-3575

The Institute of Church Ministry (ICM), an official organization of the Seventh-day Adventist Theological Seminary, shares the expertise and resources of Andrews University with the Adventist church in North America, thus aiding denominational decision makers and facilitating the larger church in the accomplishment of its goals. The ICM serves as the North American Division Strategic Resource Center but also lists the General Conference, local conferences, local churches, and Adventist journals among its clients.

The work of ICM springs from the belief that the tools of social science can join with biblical and theological insights to advance the objectives of the church. Its mission is conducted through field-based research in such areas as Adventist youth, lay-member involvement, training for ministry, church growth, church-giving patterns, Adventist women in leadership, Adventist Hispanics, and the attitudes of Adventist members on various issues.

Institute of Hispanic Ministry

Seminary Hall, Main Floor 471-6170

The Institute of Hispanic Ministry (IHM) of the Seventh-day Adventist Theological Seminary was created in response to the growing needs of the various Hispanic constituencies in North America and beyond.

The tasks of the IHM include the fostering of graduate-level study for Hispanic pastors both on and off campus and assisting in various forms of continuing education for Hispanic ministers. It coordinates the Hispanic track of the MA in Pastoral Ministry and supports Hispanic offerings in the MDiv and DMin programs. The IHM also provides support systems for Hispanic ministry and churches that are in transition culturally and linguistically. It encourages pertinent research and the dissemination of its findings for the Seventh-day Adventist Church at large.

Institute of Jewish-Christian Studies

Seminary Hall, Room 312 471-3349

Jews and Seventh-day Adventists share much and Seventh-day Adventist resources, both published and manuscript, which complement the Seminary Library holdings.

Marine Biological Field Station

Anacortes, Washington 360-293-2326

Biology Department 471-3243

Andrews University is affiliated with Walla Walla College (College Place, WA) in the operation of a marine biological field station at Rosario Beach on Fidalgo Island in the Puget Sound of the state of Washington. The station provides facilities for undergraduate and graduate study and research. Close proximity to a biological spectrum from sea bottom to Alpine tundra provides a unique opportunity for instruction and investigation.

Mathematics Center

Haughey Hall (Science Complex) 471-3423

The goals of the Mathematics Center are to help alleviate math anxiety, foster self-confidence, and assist students with specific course-related problems. The Center provides a tutoring/consulting service that is available to Andrews students, faculty, and staff.

Museum of Natural History

Price Hall (Science Complex) 471-3243

In 1960 the Biology Department established the Museum of Natural History around the nucleus of a few specimens used for teaching. It has since developed into a display used by students and visited by hundreds of people annually. The most complete skeleton of a woolly mammoth to be found in Michigan is displayed in the museum, which is located on the lower level of Price Hall.

Several donations have contributed collections of over 30,000 marine shells, 1,600 birds, and 1,400 mammals as well as hundreds of butterflies and other insects. The museum also includes over 5,000 botanical specimens in the herbarium section and a collection of antique microscopes.

North American Division

Evangelism Institute

Berrien Professional Center 471-9220

The North American Division Evangelism Institute (NADEI) was first established in 1979 in the Chicago area by the Lake Union Conference to provide practical training for ministerial and lay students in evangelism. In 1983 it became an entity of the North American Division and a vital
