

6 0 A H

6 0

_____, Dean

269-471-____

Fax 269-471-____

hp-info@andrew.edu

andrew.edu/hp/

M

The School of Health Professions fills the mission of Andrews University through the didactic and clinical training of health professionals by providing multi-level educational programs for diverse groups of students. Each department is accredited by a professional accrediting association and adheres to their accrediting association standards. The faculty provide high quality education, research and service in a Christ-centered environment that fosters collaboration and mutual respect. Graduates of these programs serve Christ by ministering to the needs of others through the delivery of effective contemporary healthcare and preventive medicine.

6 0

The School of Health Professions offers certain pre-professional circles for students who plan to enter professional schools. For medical and paramedical circles, Andrews University maintains a special relationship with Loma Linda University. See p. 112 for additional pre-professional programs.

6

Lee E. Olson, Coordinator

269-471-6491

Physical Therapy Building

Entrance requirements for colleges of chiropractic are as follows: Students are advised to contact the admissions director at the chiropractic school of their choice. The admission requirements of chiropractic schools range from 60 credits to a baccalaureate degree and a minimum GPA of 2.50. For a list of these schools, contact the chiropractic coordinator. For information about the profession and publications, check out the website: www.mechiro.org.

The courses listed below are a minimum grade level of C in a cumulative GPA of at least 2.5 and 90 semester hours of credit satisfy the requirements for Palmer College of Chiropractic.